

GUGGENHEIM INVESTMENTS EXPANDS RYDEX FUNDS LINE-UP WITH NEW EMERGING MARKETS BOND FUND

NEW YORK, NY – October 8, 2013 – Guggenheim Investments, the asset management division of Guggenheim Partners, today announced the launch of Rydex Emerging Markets Bond Strategy Fund (RYGTX). The addition of this Fund brings the firm’s Rydex Funds product suite to 55 funds, which are designed for investors looking to include specific market exposure in their portfolios.

Rydex Emerging Markets Bond Strategy Fund seeks to provide investment results that correlate, before fees and taxes, to the performance of the emerging markets bond market as defined by the Advisor. The Fund invests in emerging markets credit default swaps, U.S. Treasury futures, and bonds with economic characteristics comparable to that of the emerging markets bond market.

“ Emerging markets have evolved to the point where the unique attributes of that area in the market are increasingly becoming attractive to advisors and their clients , said William Belden, Managing Director of Product Development at Guggenheim Investments, “We are pleased to offer Rydex Funds investors the opportunity to further diversify their portfolios through this new Fund.”

The Rydex Funds offer advantages including twice-daily pricing, transparency with daily holdings listed on the web. They also offer flexibility allowing for unlimited exchange privileges, with no holding periods and transaction fees, among equivalent shares of the 55 Rydex funds* (Certain share classes may impose sales charges on new purchases or for early redemptions.)

The Rydex line-up includes 18 sector funds and six style box funds, in addition to broad market strategy funds. Rydex was the first firm to launch products in the tradable funds category in 1993.

“For more than 20 years, the Rydex Funds have allowed investors to express their market convictions through innovative beta solutions,” added Belden. “Feedback from clients indicates that they are seeking a solution for their need to gain exposure to emerging markets bonds in a way that enables them to tactically allocate in an efficient manner.”

The Fund is team-managed by the firm’s experienced quantitative strategies team, which employs the latest modeling and mathematical techniques along with deep market experience.

This fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investments in securities, in general, are subject to market risks that may cause their prices to fluctuate over time. An investment in the fund may lose money. • The fund's investments in bonds and financial instruments that in combination have economic characteristics similar to emerging markets bonds carries additional risks when compared to investing in U.S. securities, due to the impact of diplomatic, political or economic developments in the country in question. • The fund's investments in derivatives, including credit default swaps, may pose risks in addition to those associated with investing directly in securities or other investments, including illiquidity of the derivatives, imperfect correlations with underlying investments or the fund's other portfolio holdings, lack of availability and counterparty risk. To the extent the fund invests in derivatives to seek to hedge risk or limit leveraged exposure created by other investments, there is no guarantee that such hedging strategies will be effective at managing risk or limiting exposure to leveraged investments. • The fund's exposure to high yield securities may subject the fund to greater volatility. • The fund's market value will change in response to interest rate changes and market conditions among other factors. In general, bond prices rise when interest rates fall and vice versa. • The fund's investments in bank obligations may expose it to adverse developments in or related to the banking industry. • The fund's use of leverage will exaggerate the effect on net asset value of any increase or decrease in the market value of the fund's portfolio. • The fund's indirect and direct exposure to foreign currencies subjects the fund to the risk that those currencies will decline in value relative to the U.S. dollar, or, in the case of short positions, that the U.S. dollar will decline in value relative to the currency being hedged. • The fund's investments in other investment vehicles subject the fund to those risks and expenses affecting the investment vehicle. • This fund is considered non-diversified and can invest a greater portion of its assets in securities of individual issuers than a diversified fund. As a result, changes in the market value of a single security could cause greater fluctuations in the value of fund shares than would occur in a more diversified fund. • See the prospectus for more information on these and other risks.

Diversification neither assures a profit nor eliminates the risk of experiencing investment losses.
