Your Portfolio Should Not Retire When You Do

Building a sustainable retirement portfolio is more challenging than ever. The combination of increasing health care costs and longer life expectancies have many investors concerned about outliving their money. Given the current low interest rate environment, an overly conservative fixed income portfolio may not be the answer. This is why Guggenheim has created the Core Four 60/40 Retirement Portfolio, which seeks to balance principal stability with three additional strategies designed to help your retirement portfolio keep up with inflation and longer life expectancy.

The Core Four 60/40 Retirement Portfolio may represent an attractive supplement to a retirement portfolio because it adds exposure to U.S.-listed equity and fixed-income ETF investments, professionally selected by Guggenheim while seeking to provide higher-yielding income, dividend growth, principal stability, and capital appreciation potential in a single easy-to-implement investment.

²The Historical Annual Dividend Distribution is as of 2.12.2019 and subject to change. The amount of distributions paid by the Trust's securities may be lower or greater than the above-stated amount due to certain factors that may include, but are not limited to, a change in the dividends paid by issuers, a change in Trust expenses or the sale or maturity of securities in the portfolio. Fees and expenses of the Trust may vary as a result of a variety of factors including the Trust's size, redemption activity, brokerage and other transaction costs and extraordinary expenses.

³The deferred sales charge (DSC) is a fixed amount and will be deducted in monthly installments on the last business day commencing June 2019 and ending August 2019 or upon early redemption. For unit prices other than $10, percentages of C&D fees, and DSCs will vary but in no event will the maximum sales charge (S/C) exceed the total S/C. Early redemption of units will still cause payment of the DSC. However, an initial sales charge, which is equal to the difference between the maximum S/C and the sum of any remaining deferred S/C charges and C&D, will be charged if the price paid for units exceeds $10 per unit.

⁴For unit prices other than $10, percentage of the C&D fee will vary.

The Core Four 60/40 Retirement Portfolio, Series 6 is a Unit Investment Trust.

RISK CONSIDERATIONS: As with all investments, you may lose some or all of your investment in the Trust. No assurance can be given that the Trust's investment objective will be achieved. • Securities prices can be volatile. • Securities selected according to this strategy may not perform as intended. The Trust is exposed to additional risk due to its policy of investing in accordance with an investment strategy. Although the Trust's investment strategy is designed to achieve the Trust's investment objective, the strategy may not prove to be successful. The investment decisions, including the selection methodologies used to determine the holdings of the four portfolio sleeves, may not produce the intended results and there is no guarantee that the investment objective will be achieved. • The Trust invests in shares of ETFs, which are subject to various risks, including management's ability to meet the fund's investment objective. Shares of ETFs may trade at a discount from their net asset value in the secondary market. This risk is separate and distinct from the risk that the net asset value of the ETF shares may decrease. You will bear not only your share of your trust's expenses, but also the expenses of the underlying ETFs. By investing in ETFs, the Trust incurs greater expenses than you would incur if you invested directly in the ETFs. • The ETFs are subject to annual fees and expenses, including a management fee. Unitholders of the Trust will bear these fees in addition to the fees and expenses of the Trust. • The Trust is subject to an ETF's index correlation risk. • The value of the fixed-income securities in the ETFs will generally fall if interest rates, in general, rise. The Trust may be subject to greater risk of rising interest rates than would normally be the case due to the current period of historically low rates. • An ETF or an issuer of securities held by an ETF may be unwilling or unable to make principal payments and/or to declare distributions in the future, may call a security before its stated maturity, or may reduce the level of distributions declared. Issuers may suspend distributions during the life of the Trust. This may result in a reduction in the value of your units. • The financial condition of an ETF or an issuer of securities held by an ETF may worsen, resulting in a reduction in the value of your units. This may occur at any point in time, including during the primary offering period. • Economic conditions may lead to limited liquidity and greater volatility. • Certain ETFs held by the Trust invest in securities that are rated below investment-grade and are considered to be "junk" securities, speculative and are subject to greater market and credit risks; the risk of nonpayment or default is higher than with investment-grade securities. Such securities may be more sensitive to interest rate changes and more likely to receive early returns of principal in falling rate environments. • Certain ETFs held by the Trust may invest in securities that are rated as investment-grade by only one rating agency. Such split-rated securities may have more speculative characteristics and are subject to a greater risk of default than securities rated as investment-grade by more than one rating agency. • The Trust invests in securities issued by small- and mid-cap companies and certain ETFs held by the Trust may invest in securities issued by small- and mid-cap companies, which may have limited product lines, markets or financial resources and may be more vulnerable to adverse general market or economic developments. These securities customarily involve more investment risk than securities of large-capitalization companies. • The Trust invests in a U.S.-listed foreign security and certain ETFs held by the Trust invest in foreign securities, which present additional risk beyond those of domestic securities. Foreign risk is the risk that foreign securities will be more volatile than U.S. securities due to such factors as adverse economic, currency, political, social or regulatory developments in a country. • Certain ETFs held by the Trust include securities issued by companies headquartered or incorporated in countries considered to be emerging markets, which may be exposed to greater volatility and market risk. • Share prices or dividend rates on the securities in the Trust may decline during the life of the Trust. • Inflation may lead to a decrease in the value of assets or income from investments. Please see the Trust prospectus for more complete risk information.
