

New York Municipal Portfolio of CEFs, Series 32

Investment Objective

The New York Municipal Portfolio of CEFs, Series 32 (Trust) seeks to provide current income and the potential for capital appreciation.

Key Considerations

- Stable Tax-Free Income Potential: The impact of taxes can potentially have a significant adverse effect on overall investment performance. The Trust invests in closed-end funds (CEFs) that invest substantially all of their assets in tax-free New York municipal bonds. Earning tax-free income can contribute to greater overall returns over time in a well-balanced portfolio.
- Diversified Allocation: The portfolio invests in closed-end funds that can provide a diversified allocation to municipal bonds across credit quality, maturity, and issuers.
- Investment-Grade Rated: The portfolio seeks to maintain an average quality of investment-grade while seeking to provide investors with attractive income.

Income may be subject to federal, state, and local taxes as well as the alternative minimum tax. Capital gains, if any, may also be subject to tax. To the extent that any of the underlying closed-end funds invest in anything other than municipal securities, investors may be subject to federal taxes as well.

Advantages of Closed-End Funds

Many closed-end funds are designed to periodically distribute income to shareholders. In addition, closed-end funds have historically traded at a discount to their net asset value and their structure allows for the employment of leverage. These features may help investors realize enhanced total returns.¹ Other advantages of closed-end funds include:

- Exchange listing
- Price visibility
- Intra-day trading
- Professional management

As a professionally-selected, defined, and fixed portfolio of managed closed-end funds, the Trust may provide an extra degree of diversification for those investors seeking monthly-income potential.²

¹ There is increased volatility associated with investing in leveraged funds.

² Despite broad diversification, it is important to note that certain closed-end funds selected for the portfolio invest in bonds rated below investment-grade (sometimes referred to as "junk bonds"). These bonds are considered speculative and are traditionally subject to greater credit risk and therefore their risk of default may be greater than normal. As such, it is possible that the income streams provided by these closed-end funds may experience less stability than other investments.

The Appeal of Taxable Equivalent Yield

When assessing the return of an investment, the impact of taxes can be substantial and should be considered. By investing in municipal bonds, investors may receive attractive, tax-free income that typically are favorable to taxable yields.

Taxable equivalent yields represent the amount of return an investor would need in a taxable investment to earn an after-tax return equal to that of a tax-exempt investment. The table below shows the tax equivalent yield for municipal bonds at various yields based on the individual federal income tax rates. Guggenheim believes that the taxable equivalent yields of municipal bonds can make them more alluring than taxable bonds.

Guggenheim created the New York Municipal Portfolio of CEFs to offer investors stable, tax-free income potential via a diversified allocation to closed-end funds with substantial exposure to New York municipal bonds. However, a portion of the income may be subject to the alternative minimum tax as well as federal, state, and local taxes.

Actual yields may be lower or higher than the example. If bonds are purchased at a discount, there will be a larger portion of taxable ordinary income. Security Selection Guggenheim Funds Distributors, LLC (the Sponsor) has selected for the portfolio closed-end funds believed to have the best potential to achieve the Trust's investment objective. The Trust seeks to provide monthly income that is exempt from federal and New York state income taxes by investing in closed-end funds that invest in New York municipal bonds. Municipal bonds generally offer investors the potential for stable, tax-free income. However, a portion of the income may be subject to the alternative minimum tax as well as federal, state and local taxes.

When selecting closed-end funds for inclusion in this portfolio the Sponsor looks at numerous factors. These factors include, but are not limited to:

- Investment Objective: The Sponsor favors funds that have a clear investment objective in line with the Trust's objective and appear to be maintaining it.
- Premium/Discount: The Sponsor favors funds that are trading at a discount relative to their peers and relative to their long-term average.
- Consistent Dividend: The Sponsor favors funds that have a history of paying a consistent and competitive dividend.
- Performance: The Sponsor favors funds that have a history of strong relative performance (based on market price and net asset value) when compared to their peers and an applicable benchmark.

Early redemption of units will still cause payment of the DSC. However, an initial sales charge, which is equal to the difference between the maximum S/C and the sum of any remaining deferred S/C charges and C&D, will be charged if the price paid for units exceeds $10 per unit.

The New York Municipal Portfolio of CEFs, Series 32 is a Unit Investment Trust.

RISK CONSIDERATIONS: As with all investments, you may lose some or all of your investment in the Trust. No assurance can be given that the Trust's investment objective will be achieved. The Trust also might not perform as well as you expect. This can happen for reasons such as these: • Securities prices can be volatile. • The Trust includes Closed-End Funds (CEFs), which are subject to various risks, including management's ability to meet the CEF's investment objective and to manage the CEF's portfolio during periods of market turmoil and as investors' perceptions regarding CEFs or their underlying investments change. CEFs are not redeemable at the option of the shareholder and they may trade in the market at a discount to their net asset value. CEFs may also employ the use of leverage which increases risk and volatility. • The CEFs are subject to annual fees and expenses, including a management fee. Unitholders of the Trust will bear these fees in addition to the fees and expenses of the Trust. • The value of the fixed-income securities in the CEFs will generally fall if interest rates, in general, rise. Typically, fixed-income securities with longer periods before maturity are more sensitive to interest rate changes. The Trust may be subject to greater risk of rising interest rates than would normally be the case due to the current period of historically low rates. • A CEF or an issuer of securities held by a CEF may be unwilling or unable to make principal payments and/or to declare distributions in the future, may call a security before its stated maturity, or may reduce the level of distributions declared. A CEF or an underlying issuer may suspend distributions during the life of the Trust. This may result in a reduction in the value of your units. • The financial condition of a CEF or an issuer of securities held by a CEF may worsen, resulting in a reduction in the value of your units. This may occur at any point in time, including during the primary offering period. • CEFs held by the Trust invest in New York municipal bonds, which are long-term fixed rate debt obligations that decline in value with increases in interest rates, an issuer's worsening financial condition, a drop in bond ratings or when there is a decrease in the federal income tax rate. Typically, bonds with longer periods before maturity are more sensitive to interest rate changes. Municipal bonds generally generate income exempt from federal income taxation, but may be subject to the alternative minimum tax. Some or all of the income generated by CEF may not be exempt from regular federal or state income taxes and as a result, the related income paid by the Trust may also be subject to regular federal and state income taxes. Capital gains, if any, may be subject to tax. Because the CEFs are concentrated in bonds of issuers located in New York, there may be more risk than if the bonds were issued by issuers located in several states. The financial condition of New York is affected by various national and local, economic, social and environmental policies and conditions and may have an effect on the value of the units. Constitutional and statutory limitations imposed on the state and its local governments concerning taxes, bond indebtedness and other matters may constrain the revenue-generating capacity of the state and its local governments and, therefore, the ability of the issuers of the bonds to satisfy their obligations. • Economic conditions may lead to limited liquidity and greater volatility. • Share prices or distributions on the securities in the Trust may decline during the life of the Trust. • Inflation may lead to a decrease in the value of assets or income from investments. Please see the Trust prospectus for more complete risk information.

Unit Investment Trusts are fixed, not actively managed and should be considered as part of a long-term strategy. UITs are subject to annual fund operating expenses in addition to the sales charges.
