

REIT Portfolio, Series 22

Investment Objective

The REIT Portfolio, Series 22 (Trust) seeks to provide current income and the potential for capital appreciation by investing in a portfolio consisting of common stocks of real estate investment trusts (REITs).

Key Considerations

- Total Return Potential: REITs can provide an attractive balance of income and capital appreciation. Over the past 20 years, REITs have outperformed both the broad equity and investment grade fixed income markets.¹
- Inflation Hedge: REITs tend to rise in value as prices do, which supports dividend growth and can provide a consistent income stream during inflationary periods.
- Enhance Diversification: REITs have a lower correlation to other asset classes and can therefore increase an investment portfolio's diversification.²

CAPITALIZATION BREAKDOWN

A Solid Foundation for Income and Diversification

Guggenheim believes REITs offer the potential for dividend growth as underlying property cash flows increase over time. As seen in the chart below, REITs have historically offered a competitive yield when compared to more traditional asset classes. The REIT Portfolio provides exposure to U.S.-listed REITs that seek to provide property type and geographic diversification as well as stable dividends. The Trust's historical annual dividend distribution is $0.3970, as of 2.6.2020.³

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The chart is for illustrative purposes only and it is not meant to forecast, imply or guarantee the future performance of any Guggenheim Investments product. The chart above provides the 12-month trailing dividend yield for equity securities and for fixed-income securities (in all cases, measured based on the performance of indices of U.S. publicly-traded securities) shown is yield-to-worst as of 1.31.2020. The 12-month trailing dividend yield is the total dividends paid over the previous 12 months divided by the current market price. Please be aware yield represents only a portion of the overall return of an investment and the entire return potential and risk profile of an investment should be considered when making an investment decision. This chart does not reflect fees and expenses.

It is important to note the differences between asset classes, including additional risks. Treasury bonds offer timely interest payments and are backed by the U.S. government, while corporate bonds are more susceptible to the risk of default. REIT structures offer certain tax advantages, but are subject to the sector risks associated with the real estate sector. The value of a REIT and the ability of a REIT to distribute income may be adversely affected by several factors beyond the control of the issuer of the REIT. Stocks as represented by the S&P 500[®] are generally more volatile but offer investors the opportunity to participate in the growth of a company.

³The Historical Annual Dividend Distribution (HADD) is as of 2.6.2020 and subject to change. There is no guarantee the issuers of the securities included in the Trust will declare dividends or distributions in the future. The HADD of the securities included in the Trust is for illustrative purposes only and is not indicative of the Trust's distribution rate. The HADD is the weighted average of the trailing twelve-month distributions paid by the securities included in the portfolio and is reduced to account for the effects of fees and expenses, which will be incurred when investing in the Trust. The HADD will vary due to certain factors that may include, but are not limited to, a change in the dividends paid by issuers, a change in Trust expenses or the sale or maturity of securities in the portfolio.

⁴The deferred sales charge (DSC) is a fixed amount and will be deducted in monthly installments on the last business day commencing September 2020 and ending November 2020 or upon early redemption. For unit prices other than $10, percentages of C&D fees, and DSCs will vary but in no event will the maximum sales charge (S/C) exceed the total S/C. Early redemption of units will still cause payment of the DSC. However, an initial sales charge, which is equal to the difference between the maximum S/C and the sum of any remaining deferred S/C charges and C&D, will be charged if the price paid for units exceeds $10 per unit.

⁵For unit prices other than $10, percentage of the C&D fee will vary.

The REIT Portfolio, Series 22 is a Unit Investment Trust.

INDEX DEFINITIONS: REITs are represented by the FTSE NAREIT Equity REITs Index which is a broad-based index consisting of real estate investment trusts (REITs). Investment Grade Corporate Bonds are represented by the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Corporate Bond Index which measures the USD-denominated investment grade, fixed-rate, taxable corporate bond market. The U.S. 10-Year Treasury is represented by the U.S. Generic Government 10-Year which represents the on-the-run 10-Year U.S. Treasury Bond. The S&P 500[®] Index is a capitalization-weighted index that is designed to measure performance of the broad domestic economy through changes in the aggregate market value of 500 stocks representing all major industries. Indices are unmanaged and it is not possible to invest directly in the Indices.

RISK CONSIDERATIONS: As with all investments, you may lose some or all of your investment in the Trust. No assurance can be given that the Trust's investment objective will be achieved. The Trust also might not perform as well as you expect. This can happen for reasons such as these: • Securities prices can be volatile. • The Trust invests in REITs and is concentrated in the real estate sector. REITs may concentrate their investments in specific geographic areas or in specific property types. The factors that impact the real estate sector will likely have a greater effect on this Trust than on a more broadly diversified trust. The value of the REITs and other real estate securities and the ability of such securities to distribute income may be adversely affected by several factors, including: rising interest rates; changes in the global and local economic climate and real estate conditions; perceptions of prospective tenants of the safety, convenience and attractiveness of the properties; and other factors beyond the control of the issuer of the security. • Share prices or dividend rates on the securities in the Trust may decline during the life of the Trust. • The Trust may be susceptible to potential risks through breaches in cybersecurity. • Inflation may lead to a decrease in the value of assets or income from investments. Please see the Trust prospectus for more complete risk information.

Unit Investment Trusts are fixed, not actively managed and should be considered as part of a long-term strategy. Investors should consider their ability to invest in successive portfolios, if available, at the applicable sales charge. UITs are subject to annual fund operating expenses in addition to the sales charge. Investors should consult an attorney or tax advisor regarding tax consequences associated with an investment from one series to the next, if available, and with the purchase or sale of units. Guggenheim Funds Distributors, LLC does not offer tax advice.
