

Dow Jones Value Dividend Focus Portfolio, Series 39

Investment Objective

The Dow Jones Value Dividend Focus Portfolio, Series 39 (Trust) seeks to provide total return primarily through capital appreciation and current dividend income by investing in a portfolio of common stocks.

Key Considerations

- Dividend Focus: Guggenheim believes that dividends are often a good indicator of a corporation's financial condition and may signal management's belief in a profitable future. As of the inception date, the Trust's historical annual dividend distribution is $0.3717.¹
- The Importance of Value: Value stocks have historically delivered consistent returns with lower risk than the overall market.² The Trust seeks to identify companies that have historically paid above average dividend income and have the highest potential for sustainable price appreciation over the life of the Trust.
- Strength and Stability: The Trust seeks to invest in stocks that Guggenheim believes are strong, stable and growing which may provide a buffer against market volatility in a well balanced portfolio.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. There is no guarantee that the trends and projections noted above will continue or come to fruition and they are subject to change.

¹ The Historical Annual Dividend Distribution (HADD) is as of 12.16.2019 and subject to change. There is no guarantee the issuers of the securities included in the Trust will declare dividends or distributions in the future. The HADD of the securities included in the Trust is for illustrative purposes only and is not indicative of the Trust's distribution rate. The HADD is the weighted average of the trailing twelve-month distributions paid by the securities included in the portfolio and is reduced to account for the effects of fees and expenses, which will be incurred when investing in the Trust. The HADD will vary due to certain factors that may include, but are not limited to, a change in the dividends paid by issuers, a change in Trust expenses or the sale or maturity of securities in the portfolio.

The Importance of Dividends

Investing for income has become increasingly difficult in an environment of low interest rates. Dividends are an important component of investment portfolios. They can represent an income source for living expenses or, if reinvested, they can have a material impact on a portfolio's total return. As shown in the chart below, over the last 20 years the impact of reinvested dividends has represented over 40% of total market return.

Security Selection

In constructing the Trust's portfolio, the securities were selected based on the following fundamentally-based quantitative criteria:

- Starts with all of the mid- and large-size companies that make up the Dow Jones U.S. Top-Cap Value Total Stock Index.*
- Identifies higher yielding, more stable companies by screening out companies with unattractive characteristics, such as low dividend yields and higher price volatility.
- From the screened universe, identify the 100 companies with the highest Santa Monica Quantitative (SMQ) Alpha Score. The SMQ score is Guggenheim's proprietary indicator that ranks companies based upon forward-looking expectations versus current market prices.
- Selects and weights the companies with the highest dividend yield (with a 5% maximum weighting).

* The Dow Jones U.S. Top-Cap Value Total Stock Index includes equities both designated as "value" stocks and included among the 1,000 largest publicly traded companies as ranked by market capitalization within the Dow Jones U.S. Total Stock Market Index.

The Dow Jones Value Dividend Focus Portfolio, Series 39 is a Unit Investment Trust.

RISK CONSIDERATIONS: As with all investments, you may lose some or all of your investment in the Trust. No assurance can be given that the Trust's investment objective will be achieved. The Trust also might not perform as well as you expect. This can happen for reasons such as these: • Securities prices can be volatile. • Share prices or dividend rates on the securities in the Trust may decline during the life of the Trust. • The Trust is concentrated in the financial sector. The factors that impact the financial sector will likely have a greater effect on this Trust than on a more broadly diversified trust. The profitability of companies in the financial sector is largely dependent upon the availability and cost of capital which may fluctuate significantly in response to changes in interest rates and general economic developments. Financial sector companies are subject to the adverse effects of economic recession, decreases in the availability of capital, volatile interest rates, portfolio concentrations in geographic markets and in commercial and residential real estate loans, and competition from new entrants in their fields of business. • The Trust invests significantly in the consumer products sector. The factors that impact the consumer products sector will likely have a greater effect on this Trust than on a more broadly diversified trust. General risks of companies in the consumer products sector include cyclicalities of revenues and earnings, economic recession, currency fluctuations, changing consumer tastes, extensive competition, product (CONTINUED ON REVERSE)
